

Virtual Training Workshops on Mainstreaming Environment and Climate Change in United Nations Sustainable Development Cooperation Frameworks

UN Inter-agency Issue-Based Coalition on Environment and Climate Change for Europe and Central Asia

The United Nations Issue-based Coalition on Environment and Climate Change for Europe and Central Asia (IBC) is pleased to offer a two-part virtual training workshop on guidance for UN Resident Coordinator Offices and Country Teams for mainstreaming environment and climate change issues into UN Sustainable Development Cooperation Frameworks (UNSDCFs). Part I of the workshop will be an interactive webinar held on December 9th at 11am Geneva time for representatives of RCOs and UNCTs from Central Asia, Southeast Europe and Turkey, and Eastern Europe and the Caucasus. Part II of the workshop will be an interactive webinar held in January 2022, (one session for each region: Central Asia, South-Eastern Europe & Turkey, and Eastern Europe & the Caucasus).

Mainstreaming environment and climate change issues into UNSDCFs is more urgent than ever to help ensure that risks posed by current and future climate change and various forms of environmental degradation do not derail achievement of national development priorities and the global sustainable development goals. The importance of a healthy environment and a stable climate has been placed in stark relief of late, owing to a range of climate-related disasters experienced across the region and with biodiversity and forest conservation playing a key role in preventing future pandemics of zoonotic origin, among many other critical environment and human well-being interlinkages.

Elaboration of mainstreaming guidance responds to the request by Resident Coordinators in the Europe and Central Asia region to provide support in identifying key regional environmental and climate change risks, challenges and opportunities. The Guidance on Mainstreaming Environment and Climate Change in UNSDCFs was released by the Issue-based Coalition in June 2021 and this two-part training webinar series is to help increase awareness and build capacity on this critically important aspect of UN support to Member States.

Training objective: Enhanced understanding of entry points and practical approaches and tools for mainstreaming environment and climate change into UNSDCFs.

Target learners: UN Resident Coordinator Offices and Country Teams (including environment and non-environment mandated/focused staff) in three regions - Central Asia, South-Eastern Europe & Turkey, Eastern Europe & the Caucasus.

Total time required for participants to complete the training: 4 hours (two, 2-hour sessions)

Delivery mode: Live, using Zoom Meetings. The IBC has partnered with the International Institute for Sustainable Development to deliver an interactive, fast-paced two-part webinar series designed to promote the sharing of experiences and lessons learned across the region on mainstreaming environment and climate change and to provide hands on training with practical mainstreaming approaches and tools, including multi-dimensional risk assessment for informing the Common Country Analysis and the strategic priorities and Theory of Change in the design of UNSDCFs.
